

MYSTIC CIRCLE

SPRING 2020 DEKE QUARTERLY

PHILLIP H. GEIER JR.

MU '57

1935-2019

Philip H. Geier Jr., whose acquisitions as chief executive of Interpublic turned it into an advertising industry behemoth, died on June 19, 2019 in Palm Beach, FL at age 84.

While studying economics at Colgate University, where he joined DKE, Phillip started two businesses: selling late-night sandwiches to students and operating a car service to New York City. After graduating from Colgate, he earned an M.B.A. from Columbia University. For a time he tried to develop some novel products: a toothbrush with toothpaste in its handle; a bar of glycerin soap that revealed a corporate logo after repeated use; and suntan lotion that also carried an insect repellent.

Convinced his skills applied to advertising, he joined the McCann-Erickson trainee program in Cleveland in 1958. Promoted to account executive two years later, Phillip became head of strategic planning for McCann in London in 1968, was elevated to chairman of McCann U.K. a year later, promoted to executive vice president of McCann Erickson Europe in 1971, and named as vice chairman of Interpublic when McCann Erickson changed its name. Phillip became the company's president and chief operating officer in 1977 and its chairman and chief executive in 1980.

As Interpublic's chairman and chief executive from 1980 to 2000, he oversaw acquisition of nearly 200 companies. During his tenure, Interpublic's revenue grew to $5 billion from $500 million and its global work force to 50,000 from 8,000.

Brother Geier served briefly on President George W. Bush's National Economic Council and served on the board of trustees of the Whitney Museum of American Art in New York for 27 years.

After his retirement from Interpublic, Phillip formed a consulting firm, invested in start-up businesses and produced several Broadway shows including "Journey's End" which won a Tony Award in 2007.

JOHN EDWIN VEASEY

PHI GAMMA '53

1930-2019

John Veasey, a lifelong resident of Haverhill, Massachusetts, passed away in the company of his family at his home. Affectionately known to his friends and loved ones as “Ed” or “Eddie,” he devoted his life to his family, country, friends, and community.

Brother Veasey enrolled at Syracuse University in 1949, joined DKE, and served as president of the Phi Gamma Chapter. He enjoyed a stellar career on the varsity lacrosse team as a high-scoring midfielder.

Upon graduating, he enlisted in the Marine Corps, becoming a 1st lieutenant and spent nine months of his commitment as an embarkation officer in Japan.

After leaving the service, Ed took a job as a mortgage teller at the Haverhill Savings Bank, later earning a degree from the Graduate School of Savings Banking at Brown University. He assumed the role of vice president of the Family Mutual Savings Bank, and became the director of TB Banknorth, a position he held until retirement at age 72.

With the help of his wife, he founded Cedardale, a tennis club in Haverhill. They grew the club from humble roots into one of the largest and most successful multi-purpose health and fitness clubs in the country, and a true fixture in the Merrimack Valley.

In addition to serving his country, Ed was very active in his community as a Freemason and member of Merrimack Lodge F. & A.M., the Haverhill Rotary, the board of trustees of the Haverhill Public Library and served as president of the Haverhill Chamber of Commerce.

Brother Veasey enjoyed an unparalleled ardency for sailing, a lifelong passion that he excitedly shared with everyone he knew. He skippered many cruises, including adventures to Alaska, Bermuda, Labrador, Newfoundland, and Nova Scotia. Every summer he could be found at the helm of the Thistle and the Zoe Mary, named for his wife and devoted first mate, plying the waters around Squirrel Island, Maine.

SCOTT ANDREW HOGAN

PHI GAMMA '77

1955-2019

Scott Hogan passed away unexpectedly December 29, 2019. He was born in Meriden, CT where he spent summers at his family’s beach cottage in Old Saybrook and winter weekends at the cabin in Vermont. Scott attended Cheshire Academy and then graduated with a BS from Syracuse University where he served as President of Phi Gamma of DKE. He was smart and took on many different career endeavors as well as serving in the United States Navy.

Brother Hogan had a wit like no other and was a go-to problem solver, especially when it came to mechanics. As a result, he acquired many friends throughout his lifetime and leaves behind countless memories of his adventures.

JACK VIDMER GREER

PSI '49

1927-2019

Jack Greer, a native of Mobile, Alabama, passed away peacefully at his home on July 2, 2019.

Jack attended The Citadel in Charleston, SC where he played basketball and graduated from the University of Alabama where he enjoyed college life with his Brothers in DKE and loved watching Alabama football!

Brother Greer served as a 2nd Lieutenant in the United States Army stationed in Camp Lee Petersburg, Virginia. In 1948 he started in the grocery industry bagging and checking groceries, eventually serving as President of Autry Greer & Sons, Inc., the 5th generation family owned grocery business, from the 1980's until he retired.

Recognized as a pillar of the community, Jack V., as the Greer's Team calls him, served as President of various organizations and foundations including the Mobile Rotary Club, Mobile Association of the Blind, the Mobile Exploreum, National America's Junior Miss Program & Foundation, and the Advisory Board Member for Mobile Chamber of Commerce. Jack was a founding member and dedicated to supporting Mobile BayKeeper to help preserve the environment and waters of Mobile Bay.

With the love and support of his wife Janice, Jack developed Greer's Sunny Cove Village on the family property down the bay to provide educational opportunities for local school children and church groups, as well as a camp site for local scouts, and to be a special place, lighting the Village at Christmas time with a community-wide Winter Wonderland celebration for family and friends.

JAMES C. VANVLIET

PHI CHI '53

1932-2017

James VanVliet passed away peacefully on December 27, 2017 after battling multiple myeloma for two years.

Jim graduated from Tenafly High School in New Jersey where he played varsity football and was vice president of his senior class, and earned a degree in Industrial Engineering from Rutgers University where he was Brother Beta for Phi Chi. Brother VanVliet remained active with his alma mater until his passing and participated as chairman of the Reunion Committee, Class Correspondent since 2007, a member of the Society of 1766 and the Henry Rutgers Society, and was elected Loyal Son in 2014.

Upon graduation, Jim joined Bethlehem Steel as a Loop management trainee. In 1954, he was granted a military leave of absence to serve his country in the U.S. Air Force as an air traffic controller. After serving, he was honorably discharged as a First Lieutenant and returned to Bethlehem Steel. Brother VanVliet was promoted to Manager of Rod and Wire Sales in 1979, General Manager of Sales and Marketing in 1983 and named Vice President of Marketing in 1986 before retiring in 1988.

While living in Bethlehem Jim became good friends with his neighbor. Bill Gano, Rho '57. It was years into their relationship, after comparing life notes, they discovered they were Deke Brothers!

ANDREW SELFRIDGE

ETA '71

1949-2019

Andrew Selfridge was born in Cleveland and attended the University of Virginia on a football scholarship. He received his BA from the College of Arts & Sciences in 1971 and his master's degree from the Curry School of Education in 1972.

Brother Selfridge joined DKE at UVA, where he was a four-year starter, co-captain, and made 1st Team All-ACC in 1971. He was honored to be selected to live on UVA's historic Lawn at 30 East Lawn.

Beginning an NFL career in 1972 after being drafted by the San Diego Chargers, Andy went on to play five seasons at linebacker and on special teams for the Buffalo Bills, New York Giants, and Miami Dolphins. In April 2019, he was awarded the "Crossed Sabres" from the Football Alumni Club in recognition of the extraordinary impact he had on the UVA football program.

Brother Selfridge spent the last 26 years of his life serving the University of Virginia as a director of development. In many ways, UVA was home for Andy. He cared deeply about the University, its past and current students, and his fellow football and Deke alumni. Andy treasured the relationships and trust he built with many donors and volunteer leaders and his dedication to, and impact on, UVA reached well beyond his professional role.

A man of diverse interests and impeccable manners and style, Andy was active in his community and volunteered with the March of Dimes and other charities. Brother Selfridge leaves behind a legacy of laughter, integrity, loyalty, and friendship, along with precious memories for his family and friends.

PHILLIP GARDNER MEYERS

DELTA EPSILON '49

1925-2019

Philip Meyers died peacefully in Lafayette, Indiana at age 94.

Phil was a proud veteran, serving in the U.S. Navy during World War II. After his service, he attended Northwestern University in Evanston, Illinois, earning both his undergraduate and law degrees. Brother Meyers was among the founders of Delta Epsilon and remained an active Deke alumnus for many years.

Phil worked as a corporate attorney until he retired. For many years he was the Corporate Counsel for Consolidated Paper Company in Wisconsin Rapids, Wisconsin.

Brother Meyers was infamous for his stories. Every Thanksgiving and at each family gathering, he would gain full attention from everyone in the room telling stories going all the way back to his childhood. A story about his family dog throwing up brussel sprouts was always a hit (with Phil).

Phil had a great sense of humor and a great sense of adventure. He spent a summer in high school hitchhiking across the US, eventually working as a ranch hand in Colorado. Phil was an active participant in curling clubs in Wisconsin and Chicago, an avid tennis player, and a big fan of the Chicago Cubs, Northwestern Wildcats, and the Green Bay Packers.

Phil was a member of the Rotary Club of Wisconsin Rapids, the Rotary Club of Chicago, the Circumnavigators Club and had a great love for travel.

Brother Meyers will be remembered as a loving husband, father, and grandfather. He delighted all that knew him with his sense of humor, generosity and kind spirit.

JAMES ELLIOT OLIVER SR

ZETA ZETA '59

James "Jim" Oliver, Sr., began his Heavenly rest on December 25, 2019.

Jim graduated from C.E. Byrd High School and received a BS in mechanical engineering from Louisiana State University, where he gained many life-long friends as was a proud Deke. Brother Oliver loved all LSU sports, but his greatest joy came with LSU football. He was so proud of the 2019 team.

Jim loved to play golf, to paint, to do word puzzles, and to read. He enjoyed building almost anything and built and raced cars as a young man with his brothers. It was said he could "engineer" anything.

Brother Oliver's son, James Jr. said his love for all things LSU came from his father and his Mom, also a 59 LSU grad. "He truly bled purple and gold. LSU lost a great fan and we lost a great man."

JOHN PRESTON BORNMAN

ZETA ZETA '55

John Bornman, Jr. passed away on December 20, 2019 at the age of 86. He was born in East Feliciana Parish where his family had been established for many generations.

Evans was a lifetime member of College and University Professional Assoc. for Human Resources (CUPA) and maintained his friendships with directors from colleges and universities across the nation until his death. Brother Roberts established the Early Learning Center at the First United Methodist Church in 1969, served as President of the Baton Rouge, President of the Bengal Tiger Aquatics Assoc. and was honorary "Pa Pa" for Baton Rouge Crawfish Aquatics.

CHARLES MCALPINE

OMICRON '55

1933-2019

Longtime Alaskan resident, Charles McAlpine, died on July 15th at the age of 86. A fighter up to the very end, he was convinced he could continue cheating death for many years to come. Charles graduated from the University of Michigan, where he became a Deke and attended the law school.

Briefly working for General Motors out of college, but being at heart a wanderer and adventurer, Brother McAlpine sought wilder environs out West. He first went to California where he met and managed the folk singing group, the Limelitters, of which Glenn Yarborough was the lead singer.

Charles' sense of adventure brought him to Alaska in 1963 where he quickly learned to fly and thus began his adventures in the Far North. He became a fur trader with the Eskimos, flying in and out of Native villages where he bought furs & ivory carvings from the local Natives. This occupation eventually earned him the moniker, "Sealskin Charlie," a name still known by the elders.

Continuing to run his wholesale Native arts & crafts business out of Anchorage, Charles traveled all over Alaska, and the lower 48, creating markets for his goods in numerous locations. After branching out to fine art, he sold the enormous Mt. McKinley painting that now hangs in the Anchorage Museum to Ron Cosgrave, CEO at Alaska Airlines.

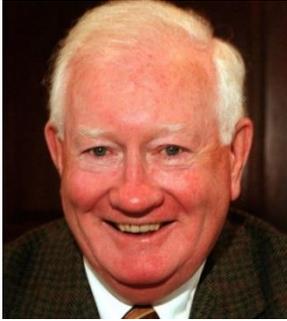

Brother McAlpine was a former member of the Explorer's Club of NYC, the San Francisco Yacht Club, the International Order of St. Hubertus, and the Bohemian Club of San Francisco. In his early years he was an avid and expert hunter, woodsman, and singer.

There was no public funeral service, as Brother McAlpine always claimed he "hated funerals and wouldn't attend his own." Truly, there was no other man quite like Charlie "Sealskin" McAlpine.

HOWARD J. BURNETT

SIGMA '52

1929-2019

Whether he was hosting a homecoming party for students and faculty, courting a wealthy college donor or riding in an elevator with strangers, Howard Burnett tended to leave people feeling better than they were when he met them.

Brother Burnett, who passed away June 16, 2019 in his Mt. Lebanon home, studied political science at Amherst College, where he joined DKE and was a Rhodes Scholar at Oxford University. After completing his studies he returned to the United States to serve four years in the United States Navy, work brief stints in business and earn a doctorate in economics from New York University.

When he took the helm of Washington & Jefferson in 1970, the school was on shaky financial footing. Brother Burnett soon became known for his fundraising prowess and his ability to forge personal connections with donors. His term leading the Washington, PA college from 1970 to 1998 saw sweeping changes to the school's physical, financial, and demographic landscape, including the construction of several buildings, including a new arts center, science center and multipurpose campus center. He was the second-longest-serving president in W&J history.

His tenure also saw the school gain its first female students, faculty members and trustee. Mr. Burnett had to wait for tenured professors to retire and positions to open before hiring women. To offset the slow pace of change, he placed new female hires on committees previously composed of senior faculty.

Art professor Pat Maloney said "He was just extremely compassionate, and kind, and he made so many friends. He brought in so much money to the college because of his kindness and his friendship. He truly built that college."

Brother Burnett hated computers, loved new babies, and enjoyed a game of golf. His son Mark said he hopes people remember his father for his infectious good-naturedness, as a person, rather than a college president.

WILLIAM I. EDWARDS III

GAMMA '52

1931-2018

William Edwards graduated from Montgomery Bell Academy and Vanderbilt University (cum laude). Brother Edwards was an Eagle Scout, editor of the yearbook at both MBA and Vanderbilt, and vice president of Gamma chapter of DKE.

After serving two years in the United States Army, William began a 42-year career with the First American National Bank, where he opened the Belle Meade Branch, worked in commercial banking in Nashville, was later head of the International Department, and started the Private Banking Division. He was a graduate of the American Bankers Association School for International Banking at the University of Colorado. During his banking career he taught Money and Banking classes at night for 24 years for the American Institute of Banking and was a contributor to their national textbook on the subject. After retiring from the bank as Senior Vice President, he worked for ten years for H & R Block.

William served as president of the MBA Alumni Association, The Nashville Mental Health Association, and the Dede Wallace Association. He was also on the Board of Matthew 25, the Senior Citizens Endowment Trust Board, and a member of the Nashville City Club. As a regular bridge player from college on, he was a member of the Vanderbilt Bridge club on White Bridge Road, and traveled to bridge tournaments in various parts of the country.

Brother Edwards was a long time member of West End Methodist Church where he was on the Official Board for ten years as Secretary of the Endowment Trust and active on various other committees.

REECE BROOKS ANDERSON

OMEGA CHI '57

1935-2019

Reece Anderson was called home to his Lord and Saviour on September 15, 2019. He was born in Houston, graduated from Lamar High School and later studied at the University of Texas; earning a Petroleum Engineering degree. While at The University he was a letterman on the swim team, joined DKE, and met the love of his life, Gail Elliott.

Brother Anderson lived a life characterized by honesty, integrity, kindness and fun. He loved his wife and best friend, Gail, his three daughters, his extended family and friends, Texas, Blue Bell Ice Cream and life in general. He was a living example of sacrifice for others, an inspiration in grasping life to its fullest and a mentor to many.

While he was a true gentleman, Reece was also a gritty Texan; cowboy boots were his footwear of choice. He enjoyed hunting, fishing and spending time on his farm and his ranch. He pursued the thrill and excitement of many adventures including rodeo bull riding, diving for lobster, racing his quarter horses or chasing a prize buck.

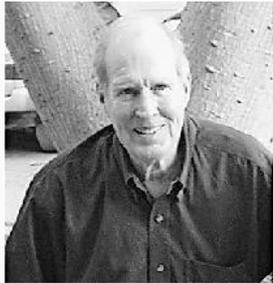

Reece was a Petroleum Engineer and consultant in the oil and gas industry. He was a Legion of Honor member of the SPE (Society of Petroleum Engineers) and was often called on by industry leaders for his skill in reworking a failing well. He was the owner and President of Reece B. Anderson & Associates and Anderson Producing Incorporated.

Despite his size 13 boots, Brother Anderson was a real Fred Astaire. He and Gail enjoyed dancing and twirling around the dance floor. Reece cherished his time with his girls and taught them all to hunt and fish at an early age. As a family, much time was also spent playing games, singing, skiing and visiting Mexico. Reece was a member of St. Luke's United Methodist Church where he had served on the board, Houston Country Club and was a lifetime Texas Ex.

JAMES HOGG ROGERS, JR

OMEGA CHI '62

James "Buck" Rogers passed away on May 3, 2019. Buck was born in Austin, TX and was a fifth generation Austinite. He attended St. Edwards High School and enrolled at The University of Texas where he joined DKE and formed many lifelong friendships.

During his time at the University, Brother Rogers enlisted in the United States Marine Corps and served for two years. Upon completion of his service, he returned to the University and graduated with a degree in Business and began his career as a Certified Public Accountant.

Retiring following a 40 year career, Buck moved to the Texas coast to enjoy one of his favorite past times, fishing. He spent his time at the bay fishing and entertaining family and friends. He became an avid reader and was known to read more than 150 books a year. Brother Rogers lived a full life enjoying golfing at Austin Country Club, hunting, fishing and watching any Longhorn sporting event.
